

REPORT ON
ANTI-RAGGING AWARENESS PROGRAM DURING ANTI-RAGGING
AWARENESS WEEK
(12th AUGUST 2025-18th AUGUST 2025)

In accordance with the directives of the University Grants Commission (UGC) and to promote a safe and welcoming campus environment, the Anti-Ragging Awareness Week was observed from 12th August 2025 to 18th August 2025. The week-long programme aimed to sensitize students, faculty, and staff about the adverse effects of ragging and the legal consequences associated with it.

Objectives:

- To educate students about the forms of ragging and its consequences.
- To foster a culture of respect, equality, and discipline among students.
- To provide guidance on reporting incidents of ragging and seeking support.
- To promote a ragging-free and safe campus environment.

Activities Conducted:

The Anti-Ragging Awareness Week included a variety of events and interactive sessions conducted across various faculties of the university as follows:

1. FACULTY OF ARTS:

On August 14, 2025, a number of competitions were held as part of the Anti-Ragging Week. The events were created to raise awareness about the significance of creating a welcoming and safe campus environment. Students from the Arts Faculty showcased their creativity and understanding through Writing, Slogan Contest, and Poster Presentation. The winners were awarded with certificates for their participation. The aim was to engage students in meaningful discussion and foster a culture of respect and understanding within the university premises.

Highlights of the Programme

Dr. B. Manickavasagam, in his Welcome Address, highlighted the importance of creating awareness among students about the ill effects of ragging. He stressed that ragging is not only punishable by law but also destroys the academic and personal lives of students.

In his Presidential Address, Dr. S. Arivudainambi emphasized that Annamalai University has adopted a policy of 'Zero Tolerance' towards ragging. He urged students to maintain discipline and harmony in the campus environment and reminded them that mutual respect is the foundation of academic growth.

Delivering the Special Address, Dr. M. Prakash stated that ragging is an uncivilized act that has no place in higher education. He called upon students to cultivate leadership qualities and uphold the dignity of the university.

In his Felicitation Address, Mr. K. Ambethkar, Inspector of Police, Annamalainagar, assured strict legal action against those who indulge in ragging. He highlighted the role of police in ensuring student safety both inside and outside the campus.

Mr. T.A.J. Lamech, Deputy Superintendent of Police, Chidambaram, also felicitated the event and encouraged students to channel their energies into positive activities rather than harmful practices like ragging.

The Keynote Address was delivered by Mr. S. Jeyakumar, I.P.S., Superintendent of Police, Cuddalore District. He spoke firmly about the consequences of ragging and shared real-life cases where students faced legal action, including imprisonment, for ragging-related offences. He emphasized that ragging ruins not only the lives of victims but also the future of offenders. He urged students to come forward and report incidents without fear, assuring them of full protection.

Prize Certificate Distribution:

Following his keynote address, Mr. S. Jeyakumar, I.P.S., Superintendent of Police, Cuddalore District, distributed certificates to the prize winners of the various competitions conducted under the UGC Anti-Ragging Awareness Circular.

This distribution ceremony served as a motivation for the students to actively participate in awareness activities and reinforced the university's message of "Zero Tolerance Towards Ragging."

As part of the awareness programme, dignitaries released posters carrying anti-ragging messages to the students. More than 800 students participated actively in the event.

The Anti-Ragging Awareness Programme concluded with the distribution of certificates, poster awareness, and the administration of the anti-ragging message. The event served as a strong reminder of the collective responsibility of students, faculty, and law enforcement to eradicate ragging in all its forms. The commitment expressed by the dignitaries and the enthusiastic participation of students, along with the competitions and prize distribution as per the UGC circular, marked the success of the programme. Finally, the programme came to a dignified close with the National Anthem.

Certificate Model:

As part of the Anti-Ragging Awareness Week activities, certificates were designed and issued to the prize winners of various competitions. The certificate model carried the emblem of Annamalai University along with the title “Anti-Ragging Awareness Programme” and prominently highlighted the theme “Zero Tolerance Towards Ragging.”

Press Coverage:

The Anti-Ragging Awareness Programme at Annamalai University received wide press attention in regional dailies. The reports highlighted the presence of Directors, Deputy Directors, the Controller of Examinations, Deputy Controllers of Examinations, Anti-Ragging Co-ordinators from various faculties, along with faculty members and students. The keynote address by Mr. S. Jeyakumar, I.P.S., and the active participation of more than 800 students from across different faculties were prominently covered. The distribution of certificates to prize winners of the UGC-mandated competitions and the release of anti-ragging posters were also featured. The press notably mentioned the arrangements made under the leadership of the University's Anti-Ragging Nodal Officer, Dr. B. Manickavasagam, ensuring the success of the programme.

OUTCOME:

The Anti-Ragging Awareness Week successfully created a heightened sense of responsibility among students regarding ragging. Students gained awareness about the negative consequences of ragging and the importance of maintaining a safe and friendly campus environment. The programme also strengthened the support system for students to report any untoward incidents confidentially.
